New Outbreaks In Chicago Labor War

Fire Started by Terrorists in Big North Side Apartment Building

POLICE RECEIVE THREATS
Several New Arrests May Aid in Clearing Up Killings and Bombings

By Associated Press
Chicago—Police today searched for unexploded bombs believed to have been placed in a $500,000 apartment building in north Chicago which was damaged to the extent of $250,000 by fire Tuesday night, which police say started by terrorists in connection with the so-called Chicago labor war. Another development on which authorities concentrated their efforts Wednesday was the confession, said by police to have been obtained Tuesday from Mrs. Margaret Miller, wife of John Miller, now under arrest as the alleged driver of the "Death Car" from which shots were fired killing two policemen early last week in the labor feud.

Police connect the firing of the building with labor disorders through a man who warned two women in an adjoining building to escape before their building caught fire. One of these women barely escaped assault when she attempted to question the man. After kicking at her he ran down the steps shouting "to hell with the Landis award"—the wage decision opposed by the labor leaders in the feud.

RECEIVE THREATS
That the fire was set, has been proven beyond a doubt, police say. Police are said to have received threats "that unless all labor men in custody were released by last Saturday, fires would be started all over the city." The other flames failed to questionings of Mrs. Miller, police say, brought a full confession from her in which the names of other occupants of the "Death Car" were given and substantiated by a previous confession said to have been obtained from her husband.

A new attempt will be made Wednesday to obtain the release of "Big Tim" Murphy, "Con" Shea, and "Frenchie" Mader, known as the "Big Three" in labor circles who are now under indictment on a murder charge in connection with these slayings. Prosecutors are asking the death penalty for the "Big Three" alleging they are the higher ups who planned the attack on the buildings which led to the slaying of the officers.

SHOOT TO KILL
An army of police with orders to kill any suspicious appearing person who failed to comply promptly with all police orders was spread through Chicago Wednesday to combat what is described by officials as the attempts of convict labor leaders to rule the city through murder, fire and terrorism.

The city was said by police authorities to be in war terms, "an occupied area," with every public building and a majority of the building under construction under guard to prevent carrying out of threats to burn the city in retaliation for the drive of labor authorities against murders, bombings and fires believed to be part of a campaign of some labor leaders against the Landis building trades wage award.

A special guard was placed around the county jail when reports were received that a delivery of "Big Tim" Murphy, Fred Mader, "Con" Shea, and other labor officials held there on charges of murder in the recent era of terrorism, was planned.

In assigning police guards to most of the buildings under construction, Chief Fitzmorris told his men to shoot first and talk afterwards.

FAMILY TROUBLES
CAUSE OF SUICIDE
By Associated Press
Kenosha, Wis.—The body of Nestor Horace, 29, and an ex-service man, was taken from the Kenosha river by Coast Guards just before noon Wednesday. Horace leaped into the river from Main street bridge early Wednesday and was declared to have been dependent on account of domestic troubles. His mother-in-law told the police that she had given him three dollars on Tuesday to buy a gun after he had told her he was going to shoot himself. Horace had been sent to jail on Monday for beating his wife. In his coat pocket was found his wedding certificate. He had torn it to pieces. In the same pocket was an honorable discharge from the army and his citizenship papers and they had been carefully preserved.

The captain's message said his engines stopped at 4:37 and that efforts to check the rising water with hand pumps had failed and that the crew would take to the boats.

BULLET LODGED IN VAN ORDER'S LUNGS; MAY DIE

Police Unable to Find Trace of Bandit Who Shot Appleton Man

William Van Order, 535 Washington st., who was shot by a bandit in Madison early Tuesday morning, still is in precarious condition in St. Mary's hospital, Madison. His wife, who left here Tuesday morning, is with him. Physicians said the bullet is lodged in the upper part of his lungs. No attempt has been made to remove it, it is said. Physicians say he has a bare chance for recovery.

Police are conducting a thorough search for the shooter but thus far have not unearthed new clues. The bandit was described as a young man with a gray cap. He wore a handkerchief across his face so his features could not be distinguished. Police believe he had an accomplice and their escape was made in an automobile.

FOREIGN MISSIONS AID CIVILIZATION

Greater Security for World Than Battleships, Declares Churchman

Jackson, Mich.—Foreign missions producing harmony between the eastern and western worlds were pictured as the bulwark of Christian civilization by the Right Rev. C. D. Williams, bishop of the Episcopal church in Michigan, in an address at the opening session of the annual state convention of the denomination here Wednesday.

Bishop Williams declared the "merciless exploitation" of the velvet races by the white had bred enmity and created a sentiment "that portends the eventual destruction of white civilization before the hordes of the yellow race unless we meet the threat with spiritual power."

Bishop Williams asserted "one such school as St. John University at Shanghai, or St. Paul's at Tokio, or one small mission or preaching station is a greater security for world civilization than all the battleships we could launch, because it is the sole testimony the members of the yellow race ever see of real disinterested service on the part of the white race."

Pialoglou, Greek tobacco importer and cigarette manufacturer of New York, will not contest the divorce action filed against him here May 9 by Constance Talmadge, motion picture actress, it was announced Wednesday by George C. "We shall not contest the action in any manner," said Hupp.

FOURTEEN PLACES ENTERED AND LARGE QUANTITIES OF MOONSHINE AND REAL WHISKY CONFISCATED.

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—Fourteen places were raided, three men arrested and large quantities of moonshine, real whisky and home brew confiscated by state and federal dry agents and police early Wednesday.

Emil Frank, 623 Cedar Street, was arrested when he attempted to destroy several bottles of moonshine, the agents said. Another man was arrested when he jumped into the automobile of the raiders and began throwing out bottles and jugs of confiscated whisky. This man is Joseph Strohmeyer.

The third man arrested is Michael Popp. He was taken by police who said they found five gallons of moonshine in his automobile.

A still, 450 gallons of mash and 50 gallons of moonshine were confiscated in the raid on an ice cream parlor owned by Steve Sadnoski on the south side.

Colored alcohol was taken in the raid in Joseph Bowler's saloon on Second street.

SOLD AT ARMORY
As a result of the arrest by federal officials, Julius Oswald, a cook of Battery A, on the charge of selling moonshine in the canton at the Whitefish Bay armory, General Orlando Holway has ordered Lieut. Col. Byron Beveridge of Madison inspect general Wisconsin National Guard, to Milwaukee, to investigate as to whether the officers of the battery had any knowledge of the sale of liquor in the armory. Beveridge conferred with the federal prohibition officials Tuesday and questioned a number of the officers and men of the battery Tuesday night.

The inspector general's report can not be made public until it is presented to the adjutant general, Col. Beveridge said, however, that it was not the intention of the national guard officials to enter into the crusade against moonshine other than to see that it was not sold in armories. This is the first offense of the kind reported in Wisconsin and if it can be proved that any officer of the battery had knowledge of the sale that he will probably be either court-martialed or ordered before an efficiency board. Captain Fish, commanding the battery, testified that he had no knowledge that moonshine was being sold in the armory. The sale, it was said, was limited to a few during a period of two weeks.

Dry Official Places Ban On Dandelion Wine

By Associated Press
Newark, N. J.—Dandelions are not fruit and hence cannot be used legally in the manufacture of wine for family use.

Dandelion wine addicts with a conscience are responsible for this ruling of Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes made public Wednesday by Collector of Internal Revenue Ferguson. Constant inquiry by law abiders who feared dandelions might not be one of the fruit wine stocks permissible for householders to use on permit, caused him to send the query to Washington, Collector Ferguson said.

While he ruled that a dandelion is not, the commissioner did not render a decision on what a dandelion is—whether it ranks as vegetable, a flower or a weed.

ACTION STARTED TO PREVENT NEW LOW RAIL RATES

Menominee Objects to Reduction in Freight Charges in Wisconsin

By Associated Press
Madison, Wis.—An action to restrain the Wisconsin Railroad commission and railroad companies operating in this state, from carrying out provisions of a commission order reducing freight charges on coal and coke shipped from lake docks to interior cities of Wisconsin, was commenced Wednesday in the United States district court for the eastern district of Wisconsin by the Chamber of Commerce of Menominee, Mich.

The plaintiffs assert that the reduced freight rates on coal, which went into effect May 10 throughout Wisconsin, are a discrimination against Michigan shippers and in violation of the interstate commerce provision of the federal constitution. They ask for a permanent injunction against the commission and against the railroads to prevent enforcement of the order. Claim is made by the Menominee chamber of commerce that this reduction in freight charges on coal is without the authority of a state commission to order or enforce.

The railroad commission will file an answer to the plaintiffs' complaint, within the next 20 days.

CLAIMS PINCHOT WINS NOMINATION

Majority of Alter in Pennsylvania Election Cut Down by Late Returns

By Associated Press
Philadelphia—Gifford Pinchot "has apparently won the republican nomination for governor on the face of unofficial returns."

W. Harry Baker, secretary of the state republican committee, declared in a statement issued Wednesday afternoon, "Unless Allegheny county gives a larger majority than my address indicates, then there is no doubt that Pinchot carried the state."

Pinchot districts in the state received shortly after Secretary Baker made his announcement, had reduced Mr. Alter's majority to 11,686. The vote: Alter 443,380; Pinchot, 431,694.

Unofficial returns from Tuesday's primary indicate that at least two republican congressmen failed of nomination in the eleven district. L. S. Wattress has apparently defeated Charles R. Connell and G. M. Wartz is apparently ahead of Congressman at Large A. H. Walters in the new 20th district. Congressman Pocht is having a hard fight for re-nomination in the 18th.

EARLY ACTION EXPECTED ON TARIFF BILL

Republicans Plan to Get Measure Passed Before End of June

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—Congress looks today as if it would wear itself out with talk. This means action on the pending tariff bill within five or six weeks and not late in the summer as has been supposed. The bill would be in conference a month anyhow but the present outlook is for a clearing of decks in the Senate by the end of June.

Two things have contributed to the acceleration. Democrats and Republicans are getting sick of the tariff debate. Even the Republicans, who up to ten days ago were hoping something would happen to the tariff bill, so that it might be buried for the remainder of the session, are beginning to think a great deal more good might be accomplished by getting the measure passed and out of the way. Then its defects will in their opinion lead to remedial legislation much sooner and the damage done will be minimized.

ADD TO GRIEVANCES
As for the democrats they, too, are saying that from a political viewpoint the passage of the tariff act before the congressional elections will be advantageous and will add to the sum total of grievances inside the Republican party.

There is a chance that all calculations, however, on the tariff may be upset. Lately a movement has been launched to take the tariff out of politics once and for all by lodging the power to fix rates in a commission created by congress. This idea is not new but until the peculiar economic conditions following the war has an administration sought to relieve congress of the perplexing task of fixing rates. Mr. Harding has asked that the executive be empowered to change rates as conditions fluctuate. All tariff commissions heretofore have been merely advisory. They have had no power except to recommend and congress has done its own legislating. The plan now is to empower a tariff commission to fix rates and to vest it with a quasi-judicial character exactly like the Interstate Commerce Commission. The public would appeal to the tariff commission and present a case for the raising or lowering of tariff rates exactly as the shippers and railroads handle the question of transportation rates. In this way congress would be relieved of a constant pressure and the chances of an equitable decision from a national instead of a political or sectional viewpoint would be vastly improved.

OPPOSED BY DEMOCRATS
The democrats are fighting strenuously against giving the president the right to fix rates. They claim it is unconstitutional for congress to delegate its power, and Senator Underwood, of Alabama, the democratic leader, has contributed some comprehensive arguments along this line. But in answer to this Republicans point out that congress also has the right to rate interstate commerce and has delegated this right to a commission. The truth is that the democrats are opposed to vesting the right to fix rates in any political official such as the president, who has a responsibility to a party. They might be persuaded to compromise if a non-partisan or rather bipartisan commission such as the Interstate Commerce Commission were to be created.

HARDING TO MAKE SPEECH THURSDAY

Washington — Announcement that President Harding would deliver an address at Thursday afternoon's session of the 10th annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States was made at the opening of Wednesday's session by J. H. DeFreese, president of the chamber. Speaking at Wednesday's session of the financial rehabilitation of Europe, Dwight H. Morrow, of J. P. Morgan and company, declared conditions were improving in Western Europe, but information from Germany, middle Europe and Russia was too meagre to enable students of financial conditions to form definite conclusions at this time. It was too often considered, he said, that business troubles in the United States had been due to the failure of portions of Europe to recover financial equilibrium. Such was not the case he added, explaining that depression in the U. S. and in England had been due to large part to unbounded expansion caused by a great emergency demand for goods in 1919.

MAKES PLEA FOR MORE FARM NEWS IN DAILY PAPERS

Speaker Declares Agricultural Interests Slighted by Press

Chicago—Agricultural advertising and the relation of the farmers to the newspapers formed the leading topics of the Inland Press association meeting here today.

"With more people engaged in farming than any other industry in the sections of the United States represented by the membership of the Inland Press association," said Stephen Bolles, editor of the Janesville Gazette this morning, "there is less attention paid to the news of the farmer than to any other branch of industry."

Mr. Bolles talked on "Hitching Up With the Farmer."

"In the state of Wisconsin, first in dairying, there are 62 million dairy cows in the thirteen states represented here there are 47 billions of capital represented in the farms and 14 billion in manufacturing industries. News of the farm and the farmer is as necessary as the news of industrial achievement in other lines. Yet we give less space, less interesting writing and less attention to this department of activity than to any other line. The flapper and the actress fill columns, the politician has his special and continuous vaudeville, the woman and her propaganda occupies pages while we give to the farmer space about the time he happens to have been stung by buying blue sky securities. I believe every newspaper will find the best investment that at this time of class distinction can be made is to hitch up the news columns with the farmer and his interests."

HUGE ELEPHANT GOES ON RAMPAGE

Big Animal Dashes for Liberty and Leaves Destruction in His Wake

By Associated Press
Tacoma, Wash.—Tusko, described as the largest elephant in captivity, is reported to have dashed to the Ledger Wednesday as peacefully consuming his fodder at Bellingham, Wash., after an afternoon, night and morning of rampage that stretched for 30 miles from Sedro Woolley, Wash.

Tusko hurled his keeper, H. Hendrickson, 30 feet in the air. Several of Hendrickson's ribs were broken. Tusko proceeded through the streets of Sedro Woolley, crushing three automobiles and turning a dance into a riot. He then headed for the hills. Flattered fence and orchards told the story and reports from excited farmers and loggers along the line of flight added details. At one logging camp Tusko uprooted three telephone poles.

Looking out of an upper story window, a farmer and his family gazed upon the elephant's mighty back, hunched in a fortunately unsuccessful effort to overturn the entire structure.

A barn proved less staunch and after breaking in Tusko ate his fill and then proceeded onward. At dark Monday the several hundred pursuers were forced to halt and all spent the night in the woods, taking up the trail at daybreak yesterday. Later, sources ranging up to two other elephants that had been included among his pursuers, Tusko meekly permitted his recapture.

Ready To Again Argue Problems

FARMER HIT BY TRAIN HERE THIS MORNING

Herman Bartz, Mackville, Has Narrow Escape on State St. Crossing

If Herman Bartz, 54, a farmer living near Mackville had driven his car two feet farther he probably would have been killed or very seriously injured when his car was struck by southbound Chicago and Northwestern passenger train No. 118 at the State st. crossing at 7:30 Wednesday morning.

Mr. Bartz was taken to St. Eliza hospital where slight wounds on the head and an injured knee were dressed and he then was able to return to his home. The front of his Ford car was damaged, but it is repaired.

The farmer was driving north on State st. and did not see the approaching train because his view was obscured by a building. He apparently became confused when he saw the train approaching, because his automobile was moving slowly and the train was traveling at moderate speed. He did not stop but the machine had gone only far enough so its front end was caught by a cylinder head of the locomotive. The automobile was thrust aside. It is believed that this was what spared Mr. Bartz's life, as the car would have been carried along or hurled if it had been on the rails.

Engineer Charles Sims tried to stop the locomotive in time to avoid the crash. The train, consisting of an engine and two passenger coaches stopped within its own length.

NO SENSATIONS IN SMALL TRIAL

Assistant State Treasurer of Illinois on Stand for Third Day

Waukegan—Harry C. Luehrs, assistant state treasurer, considered one of the prosecution's star witnesses in the trial of Gov. Small, spent his third day on the witness stand Wednesday.

More records of the state treasurer's office are introduced and identified by Luehrs when the state questioned him on re-direct examination. And the defense, on cross examination sought to strengthen by Luehrs testimony, its claim that the Grant Park bank was a bona fide private bank and not a fiction and a fraud as charged by the prosecution.

Little evidence of a startling character was developed in the morning session, which was occupied by the tedious taking of testimony concerning treasury records and drafts upon which the prosecution bases its charges that Gov. Small conspired with Lieut. Gov. Sterling, Vernon Curtis and the late Senator Edward C. Curtis, to defraud the state.

Mrs. Viola M. Koch of Appleton was granted a decree of divorce from Frank F. Koch, in municipal court Tuesday by Judge A. M. Spencer. In addition she will receive $50 a month alimony and $50 a month for support of the daughter. The suit was not contested. The couple was married June 17, 1913.

Wendland brandished two revolvers and was masked with a white handkerchief in both places.

Soviets Propose Certain Modifications in Plan for New Parley

REDS PREPARING TERMS
Surprise at U. S. Reply to Invitation to Meeting is Explained

By Associated Press
Genoa — Russia has accepted the proposals of the powers for the meeting at The Hague to discuss the Russian situation, it was announced Wednesday afternoon. In accepting, the Russians proposed certain modifications in the plan which will be discussed at a meeting during the afternoon.

The Russians signified their acceptance with the modifications stated, at Wednesday morning's session of the political sub commission of the conference, to which the Russian representatives were admitted. No decisions were reached at this session but the atmosphere was apparently more harmonious than that of Tuesday.

M. Tchitcherine read a statement saving the appointment of two commissions would perpetuate the Genoa method and lead to separate meetings, but he would accept the proposal to participate in the commission. He repeated his protest against the exclusion of Germany pointing out that the question of credits, which was not covered by the treaty of Rapallo between Russia and Germany would be discussed at The Hague.

Premier George in an address made it clear that the conference would not comply with M. Tchitcherine's request that Germany be admitted to the Hague meeting.

FRENCH SENT "FEELER"
Washington — French sources at Genoa, prior to issuance by the economic conference of an invitation to the United States to participate in The Hague meeting sent a "feeler" to develop the American attitude toward such participation. It was learned Wednesday.

The American reply, it was explained, was sympathetic in character, but was not an acceptance, although apparently construed at Genoa as forecasting participation by the United States. This, it was said, was the only explanation that could be assigned in official quarters here to the confusion in European capitals which has followed American declaration of the formal invitation.

The French proposal was of a general nature and fixed no time or place for the suggested economic commission to meet. The American reply crossed on the cables the formal invitation to The Hague meeting and the result, it was said, Wednesday, was that the American sympathetic attitude toward the original French suggestion was construed in some quarters abroad as indicating acceptance of an invitation to The Hague.

If I Were a Gardener

BY GOGGETTER
I would cash in on the available work that comes with spring. Most folks know how to make a garden, but very few of them know how to plan, flower beds that will yield a varied and continued bloom throughout the spring, summer and fall.

I would show them what wonderful results can be obtained by skillful selection of plants, seeds, bulbs and shrubs. I would transform ugly backyards into cozy nooks. I would show property owners how easily their grounds could be made to glow with cheery color.

I know just how I could capitalize my ability to the fullest, and that is with a Post-Crescent Want Ad. I'd run my Ad at once. I'd keep my Ad in The Post-Crescent until I had established a good trade. Thereafter—I'd "Say It With Flowers."

USE BLOODHOUND TO TRAIL ROBBER AT BLACK CREEK

Dog Gives Clew to Robbery of Froehlich and Gehrke Hardware Store

County and village officers are hopeful that clews provided by a bloodhound late Tuesday afternoon will lead to the arrest of the persons who entered the Froehlich and Gehrke hardware store at Black Creek last Monday night and the night of Nov. 1, 1921. The bloodhound, imported from Waupaca by the hardware firm, followed a winding trail from the store to the home of an east side resident. No arrests have been made but officers are working on several clews. It is said. Officers refuse to say who is suspected.

The robbery was discovered Tuesday morning when Henry Froehlich, a member of the firm, noticed $3.26 missing from the cash register. The request for the dog was sent at once and the animal picked up the trail late in the afternoon. He followed the scent to the Soo line depot, north on the railroad tracks, back into town to the east end and stopped at the home. A large number of persons followed the animal.

District Attorney Heinemann and local police officers were called and the investigation was continued. No arrests were made but it is said there will be new developments during the day.

Valley Iron Works Says it is Unable to Meet Request of Employees

Because a demand for an increase of 10 cents an hour in their wages was not granted several molders employed by the Valley Iron Works left the company's employ Saturday noon. The company has hired new molders and is operating as usual, it is said.

Molders are receiving from 35 to 50 cents an hour. It is said by the men, and on Thursday they presented a demand for from 45 to 60 cents an hour. Officials of the company said they could not afford to pay this increase and that other plants in this vicinity, doing the same kind of work, were paying the 35 to 50 cents scale. Saturday noon the men left their work.

The molders said about 15 men left the company but the company officials said only 9 men dropped their tools. Both are agreed that helpers

Are You Tired of Your Husband?

DOES he seem less attentive than he used to be? Is some other man, who apparently is able to give you more time and attention, arousing your interest? When your husband comes home at night tired out do you think he is unreasonable because he wants to stay at home while you want to go out? Have you forgotten that if he seems less attractive than he used to be it is because his struggles for YOU have made him older, quieter, more serious? If any of these things are true then see "FOOLISH WIVES" coming to the

Majestic Theatre, Monday, May 22

It is a motion picture—one of the most costly ever produced—but it is more than a picture. It is a sermon. It instructs while it entertains. It will amuse and thrill you. Perhaps it will do you good.

In it the wife lets herself be persuaded by one of the wildest, cleverest scoundrels in all Europe that her husband does not appreciate her. But in the end she realizes that after all it is her own husband she really loves and she comes to know that he loves her and is still the devoted lover of their honeymoon days.

MAE TINEE, IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, SAYS: "Universal comes across, and comes across BIG—"FOOLISH WIVES," so long advertised as a wonder picture proves to be that thing."

NO DEMAND HERE FOR LICENSES FOR SET LINE FISHING

Few Licenses are Sought by Nonresidents Because of Scarcity of Fish

Set line fishing is not a sport that is very much indulged in in the Big Wolf and Fox river waters of Outagamie county. Judging from the few set line licenses applied for in this county last year. The season for this form of fishing opens May 29 and continues until Feb. 15, but there have as yet been no applications for set line fishing licenses and Herman J. Kampe, county clerk, is not looking for any startling number. He expects to receive a supply of license blanks and tags from the state conservation commission early in June. The small number of licenses is due to nonresidents who are attracted to the increasing scarcity of pike and bass in local waters. The season for perch of which there are still enough to be had opens June 1. According to the law, no licensed set line may be used until it is equipped with a metal tag designating the license number. The license authorizes the use of only one set line with not to exceed 25 hooks for taking, catching or killing fish. In the Fox river in Outagamie co. as far as the dam at DePer, 300 hooks may be used but in such waters no frog, minnow or live bait may be used. The fee for each license is $1 and the metal tag costs 25 cents.

LAUX COW IS GIVEN NATIONAL MENTION

A certificate of merit has been awarded J. P. Laux of Appleton by the Holstein Friesian Association of America for the high production record attained by his cow, Lady Parthena Diebe, according to word received by L. L. Oldham, secretary of the Wisconsin association. This registered Holstein produced 556.6 pounds of milk and 21.20 pounds of fat or the equivalent of 29.56 pounds of butter in 72 days on official test as a junior 4-year-old. The record is published in bulletin No. 16, issued by Malcolm H. Gardner. The Holstein breed now has nine cows that have produced more than 31,000 pounds of milk in a year. They are: Secis Pictetique Prospect 27,381.4; Tilly Alcatraz 33,425.3; Zarilda Clotilde 3rd DeKol 33,153.6; De Kol Piles Segis Dixie 32,632.3; Kolrain Funderle Boss 32,563.1; Adirondack Victoria Mini 31,520.8; Lutescent Vale Cornucopia 31,246.9; Queen De Kol Bonheur Pontiac 31,144.1; and Winnie Kornucopia De Kol 31,034.2 lbs. Fifty animals of this same breed have produced more than 1,200 lbs. of butter in the same length of time.

HARD TO ESTIMATE HAY CROP THIS YEAR

Large Acreage of Clover and Timothy Was Killed —
Small Reserves

A hay crop of 4,878,000 tons is in danger for Wisconsin from the May 1 condition, according to Joseph A. Becker of the Wisconsin Cooperative Service. The short crop of 1921 totaled 4,585,000 tons with the five-year average production 5,223,000 tons. Estimating the acreage in hay this spring is reported to be difficult because thousands of acres of clover and timothy were winter killed, and additional thousands show thin and spotted stands. The late spring is said to make it difficult to estimate just how much of the thin and spotted stands will be plowed up for other crops.

The area of tame hay is tentatively estimated at 94 per cent of last year's acreage, or 2,282,000 acres, compared to 2,064,000 acres last year and a five year average of 835 in wild hay is estimated at 375,000 acres, compared to 364,000 in 1921.

Production of tame hay is estimated at 4,406,000 tons as compared to 4,148,000 in 1921, and of wild hay at 472,000 tons, compared to 437,000 last year.

The condition of meadows on May 1 is estimated at 84 per cent, compared to 85 per cent on April 1 and 88 per cent a year ago. On May 1, there remained on Wisconsin farms 321,000 tons of hay, compared to 673,000 tons on May 1, last year and a five year average of 470,000. The reserves this year represent 8.5 per cent of last year's crop as compared with 12 per cent last year and a five year average of 8.8 per cent. Many farmers have shipped in hay to feed livestock, the report says. In other cases hay has been fed sparingly so that livestock are thin and in poor condition. Spring work was farther behind on May 1 than any year since 1914. This was in the face of the fact that more plowing than usual was completed in the fall of 1921. Of spring planting, it is estimated that 50 per cent was completed by May 1, as compared to 55 per cent last year.

ASK FOR BIDS FOR BRIDGES IN COUNTY

Bids for the construction of two concrete bridges in Outagamie co. are being received by the county, state road and bridge committee. May 22 has been set for the opening of bids in the office of A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. The bridges are Romanesque bridge in the town of Freedom, and Coffee bridge No. 4 in the town of Deer Creek. Both bridges were damaged by washouts. The first calls 205 cubic yards of concrete, girder type of bridge, the second 137.6 yards of concrete slab type. The contractors are to furnish labor and material.

1,660 Pipes In Chapel Organ; Only Half Finished

Organ Will Contain 3,133 Pipes
When It Is Completely
Installed

Have you ever sat in Lawrence Memorial chapel listening to the sonorous tones of the organ, letting your mind wander hither and yon until it finally rested on the organ itself? Then did you wonder about the placement of the pipes and the various other parts which go to make it one of the finest organs in the middle west?

Here is the whole story, no perhaps. I should say half of it for the organ which you hear is only about half complete. The organ is the product of the Steere Organ company and was made in Springfield, Mass. It is noteworthy for its superb beauty of tone, its responsive action and unusual expressiveness. In the sturdy diapasons, and in the various imitative flutes, strings and reeds the voicing is of highest quality.

The organ is now divided between two chambers located at either side of the stage, back of the proscenium arch, and hidden from view. Some of the pedal pipes are placed back of the proscenium above the stage. The console or key desk, which is all that is usually seen of the organ, is movable and may be placed at any angle on the stage.

The total number of pipes now installed is 1,660 while the number in the proposed complete instrument is 3,133. The additional pipes would include a solo division, which is a group of brilliantly voiced stops to be located at the back of the stage. An echo organ of delicately toned stops will be placed at the rear of the auditorium in the balcony. A set of 25 chimies will be placed in the echo organ.

In the present cables and magnets, there are 15 miles of electric wire. A rotary blower, driven by a ten horse power motor, furnishes the compressed air at six and fifteen inch pressures. This blowing plant is located in the basement where a ten volt generator provides current for action.

CO. D. GOES TO CAMP FROM AUG. 1 TO 15

More Than 6,500 Guardsmen
Expected at Camp Douglas
This Year

Appleton Co. D, 127th infantry, Wisconsin National guard, has been booked for Aug. 1 to 15 for its annual encampment at Camp Douglas. All units of the state guard, except the artillery units, will be stationed there for their two weeks workout. The 64th infantry brigade and the 106th cavalry will be in camp from July 17 to Aug. 1. The artillery units will go to Camp Custer.

State officers estimate that 6,500 men are expected to participate in the state guard encampment this year. The men will receive regular army pay at $30 a month for privates and correspondingly higher wages for noncommissioned and commissioned officers, in addition to a bonus of 50 cents a day.

Conservation

On the Milwaukee Railroad's purchasing list there are 72,000 items—steel and stationery, linen and lumber, pins and padlocks, coal and cabbages, etc., for which it spends close to fifty million dollars every year.

As this material is spread over 11,000 miles of railroad careful supervision is necessary to prevent waste and misuse.

For year a continuous Conservation Campaign has been under way and every month hundreds of letters are sent in by employees showing what they have saved by salvaging material and otherwise avoiding waste and loss.

MILWAUKEE WILL ENTER ATIN 2,000 G. O. P. DELEGATES

Bosshard is Mentioned as Probable Permanent Chairman of Conference

Milwaukee is making arrangements to entertain 2,000 delegates to the Citizens Republican state conference there June 1. It is not yet certain whether it will be a one or two day program at the conference. It is expected that automobiles will take the visitors to and from the Milwaukee Auditorium at all times of the day or night. Chicago and other convention cities have provided such accommodations and the same method has been suggested to the committee of forty-four.

Outagamie county delegates who will go to the convention are Mark S. Catlin, Mrs. John Engel, Mrs. George Even, Norman Oviatt, E. C. Walter, Charles Hagen, Thomas B. Reid, J. P. Frank, The Rev. A. A. Viessers D. H. Denny.

Kimberly—W. E. Fleweger, Bear Creek—C. O. Davis, Deer Creek—A. M. McCrone, Shiocton—M. Mack, F. H. Colburn, Seymour—E. C. Smith, L. H. White, Hortonville—G. A. Cuff, Kaukauna—C. D. Boyd, F. W. Groskan, Maple Creek—D. J. Flanagan, Greenville—W. G. Jamison.

Special arrangements will be made to entertain the women delegates and alternates. Milwaukee women connected with the Republican party will arrange dinners and other details.

Otto Rosehard of LaCrosse will open the state conference and there is considerable sentiment favorable to him as permanent chairman. There is still much speculation as to what action the conference may take on in endorsing a candidate for United States senator against LaFollette. Leaders of the movement against radicalism say that the campaign will be based on well defined principles and that silence in regard to LaFollette's candidacy will be inconsistent with the program against radicalism.

FANS ARE BACKING CLUB TO WIN FROM APPLETON SUNDAY

Parade and Other Opening Ceremonies are Scheduled for Home Game

Kaukauna—Baseball is the absorbing topic of the day in Kaukauna. All conversation hinges on the coming game Sunday afternoon with Appleton when the old baseball rivalry will be resumed. Undaunted by last Sunday's defeat fans are making preparations to take part in a big parade to be held before the game.

The parade will start at the First National bank corner at 1 o'clock, will traverse Kaukauna, Little Chute and Kimberly and will meet the Appleton crowd at Kimberly if such arrangements can be made with manager August Brandt. The Kaukauna band will head the local outfit. All car owners will be welcome into the ranks and men and boys with horns and megaphones will be asked to make use of them.

Diederich will occupy the rubber for the electric city gang. His work last Sunday was pleasing and he no doubt will work for Kaukauna the rest of the season. Davey, who has done excellent work behind the log will continue in that position.

Kaukauna's title as a fence busting team was substantiated at the Green Bay game when Brautigan's colts got to the renowned Kinney for four hits in the first inning. Practically every player on the team is in a position to appear for practice nights and long sessions with the stick are increasing the batting ability of the players.

"When they told me about Tanlac it seemed almost too good to be true, but since taking the medicine I know for myself that all they said about it was so," said J. Bertram Simon, 1031 E. 46th-st., Tacoma, Wash., a well-known photographer. "I suffered from rheumatism in my shoulders for ten years and at one time had to go to the hospital. Gas made me have heartburn for hours after meals. "In a very short time after I started taking Tanlac I actually felt like a new man. I am now entirely rid of rheumatism and my stomach is in first-class condition, while I have gained ten pounds and never felt better. I have recommended Tanlac to a number of people and I am always glad to say a good word for this remarkable medicine." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. adv.

Bob Is Last Survivor Of Fire Horses

In connection with petitions for the reestablishment of a horse house in the west end of the city which are now being circulated in the Third and Fifth wards came numerous inquiries of what had become of the horses of the No. 2 department located on Statest. for more than quarter of a century.

According to Michael Calnin, captain, the horses were transferred to farms after being replaced by motor apparatus. Billy was killed by lightning which struck a wire fence near which he was standing during a thunderstorm, and Pete had a leg fractured by being kicked by another horse which necessitated his being killed. These horses were the only white ones in the department, and Bob, the black, still is doing service on a farm in Grand Chute.

PROMINENT APPLETON PEOPLE LAUD TRUTONA

Many Who Have Never Before Indorsed Any Preparation Gladly Offer Public Praise For Famous Tonic.

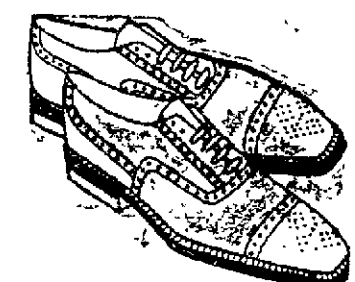

That Trutona, the famous tonic, is truly an unusual and extraordinary preparation, is strikingly shown by the fact that many Appleton people, who had never before publicly indorsed any preparation have gladly and unqualifiedly praised Trutona in public statements in the past few weeks. Miss Selma Wolff, 1082 Elsie street, Appleton, says: "For several months my system had been run down. I had such a tired, achy feeling all the time—some days just feeling like I didn't want to move a step. My appetite was poor and I had such a bad taste in my mouth continually. I knew that my system needed a general toning up and finally decided to try Trutona. I am indeed satisfied with the benefits this medicine has given me. It's just a wonderful preparation in my opinion. My tired, achy feeling has all disappeared. I've a ravishing appetite now and the bitter taste is gone from my mouth. In fact, I feel just fine again." Hundreds of Appleton residents, who are not really sick, yet feel so tired, languid, achy and out of sorts that life seems hardly worth living, particularly need Trutona at this season. YOU'LL be surprised at the rapidity and thoroughness with which this famous tonic will quiet your nerves, purify your blood, rebuild those broken-down tissues and the like which are responsible for your imperfect health. YOU can be healthy, just as your friends and neighbors are, by taking Trutona. It is sold and highly recommended in Appleton at SCHLINTZ BROTHERS' Drug Store, where scores of local people are now calling daily. adv.

DELINQUENT TAX SALE OF COUNTY BIGGEST IN YEARS

More Than $50,000 Must be Realized in Sale Ordered for June 13

Outagamie county's tax sale will be held June 13 and promises to be the largest sale in the history of the county, according to Louis A. Petersen, county treasurer.

A delinquency of approximately $50,000 appears on the books and must be realized in the sale. This is practically $20,000 more than last year. The amount does not include that of approximately $16,000 due on delinquent income taxes. The number of property holders involved is between 1,200 to 1,500 as compared with 800 a year ago.

Property owners making tax payments from now on until June 13 will be assessed an extra penalty of 25 cents. Owners of the land which goes to sale will be entitled to redeem the certificates at a later date by paying 10 per cent interest on the sale price of the certificate.

The large delinquency is attributed to the scarcity of money. Farmers or realized but little profit last year or incurred losses were unable to borrow money when they needed it, it was said. Tax bills come into the same class as other unpaid bills. Miss Kathleen McKabe of Syracuse, N. Y. has been employed to assist Miss Lella Peterson, deputy treasurer, in the work that has accumulated with the unpaid taxes.

CHERRY PICKERS HURRYING TO SIGN

Appleton Boys Are Given First Chance to Fill Quota for Camp Goff

Every Appleton boy who intends to go to the cherry pickers' camp at Sturgeon Bay this summer is being urged to register early by Joseph P. Dennison, boys' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A. and director of Camp Goff. Approximately 50 registrations already have been received and the local youths are to be given first chance to fill the quota of 144.

Merrill intends to send 25 this year and Kaukauna will have a large delegation. Other cities also are asking the privilege of sending boys to the Y. M. C. A. camp, indicating that all places will be filled.

Opportunity for each boy to pay for his outing from his earnings and to return home with money in his pockets is afforded at the cherry camps.

Plenty of outdoor and indoor recreation is provided in the hours when the pickers are not at work. Baseball, swimming, athletic meets and other amusements are indulged in every day. Evenings are spent in the assembly hall, where informal entertainment is carried on with songs, jokes, stunts, movies, helpful talks and devotions. Discipline on the honor plan is carried out successfully.

FURS AND MYSTERY By A. CARSTENSEN

582 Madison St.
Shakespeare probably never engaged in the fur business, though he is said to have once been arrested for poaching, but when he penned the much quoted line, "What's in a name?" he expressed the views of thousands who own and wear with pride some of the most highly prized furs.

For what does it matter to my lady, clothed or draped with the stole of Hudson Seal if the fur which she so proudly wears is neither native to Hudson Bay nor even related to the genus seal. If the erstwhile humble muskrat of the Jersey meadows or other habitat bears skins of such quality that, through the art of the skillful dyer it takes on the beauty and durability of the genuine seal, what boots it?

Only the most skillful furrier is able to detect these choice skins, when properly treated, from the genuine seal, and a lady, gowned in robes of regal splendor, can wear her coat or stole of Hudson Seal and care not a whit what animal once wore the shining fur which now clothes her in beauty and with pride.

The story of the ceaseless search for a means of "unhaling" the fur, and only of the skillful animals, but of the seal itself is an interesting one. The fur of the seal and certain other fur-bearing animals contains many hard, long hairs called "water hairs," which refuse to take any kind of dye and therefore greatly mar the otherwise beautiful fur with their white points showing at regular intervals.

Some fifty years ago a machine was invented which deftly removes these unsightly hairs and leaves the skin unharmed. With this invention it is possible to remove all such unsightly hairs from the skin of other animals than the seal, and as a result, the skin of the muskrat, a native of North America, is made one of the most beautiful, desirable and durable of any of the many used in the fur trade.

Thus, when properly dyed, the common muskrat becomes Hudson Seal, and as such is used by furriers in many ways and commands a price which justifies the pride which all who wear furs of this kind may feel in owning such garments.

The term Hudson Seal is recognized generally in the trade and furs of this material are prized everywhere.

Library Has Big Demand For Books On Wireless

Interest in New Communication Method is Growing Daily in Appleton

Although the interest in radio communication had been growing in Appleton more or less quietly for several years, it took the snow storm in February to bring it into great prominence. When Appleton was entirely cut off from the outside world except for the messages which reached here by wireless, the people turned their attention to the progress which had been made and more and more radio enthusiasts were developed.

The increased interest has been shown in the demand for books on wireless communication at the Public Library. There are several books of recent date which are in constant circulation among boys and adults, too. These books include:

Telegraph Wireless, Elmer Eustice Bucher.

How to Pass U. S. Government Wireless Examinations, Elmer Eustice Bucher.

Practical Wireless Telegraphy, Elmer Eustice Bucher.

Wireless Experimenters Manual, Elmer Eustice Bucher.

Principles of Radio Communication, John Harold Morecroft.

Wireless Telegraphy and Telephony Simply Explained, Alfred Powell Morgan.

Radio Telegraphy, A. N. Goldsmith.

Wireless Telegraphy, N. H. Staughton.

Another list of books on wireless and its earlier developments and phases includes the following:

Marconi's Victory Over Ether.

Book of Wireless, A. C. Collins.

The Wireless Man, His Work and Adventures on Land and Sea.

How Guglielmo Marconi Telegraphs Without Wires.

How to Become a Wireless Operator, C. B. Hayward.

Selling Tickets With "Lucky" Numbers Against Wisconsin Law

Those who are still seeking loopholes to evade the Wisconsin anti-lottery law in the county are bound to be disquieted by the opinion handed down by W. W. Gilman, assistant attorney general, that any raffle or lottery is illegal no matter what the excuse may be.

Automobiles and other prizes are occasionally given away at dances to persons holding the ticket with the lucky numbers. To sell numbered tickets for general admission to a celebration or dance and make a free gift to the purchaser who draws the "lucky number" is lottery, he holds.

"Whenever prizes are given," he said, "the prize winner being determined by chance and there being a consideration paid for such a chance it is a violation of the anti-lottery laws. No amount of camouflage can obviate the result. The mere fact that every purchaser of a chance gets something in value equal to the price paid does not affect the question where some one receives more for his money than others."

FOUR ENROL FOR U. S. SUMMER CAMP

Four applications have been filed with the army headquarters of the Sixth Corps area by Alfred S. Bradford, county chairman, for young men who wish to attend the summer citizens' military training camp at Camp Custer, Mich. Several other inquiries have been received.

Outagamie county's quota of young men for this camp is 11, and these places must be taken before May 21. Mr. Bradford urges all interested youths to confer with him promptly, or with Major Albert Tucker of the regular army at the city hall.

One month's military training with all expenses paid is afforded all who enroll. Opportunity to qualify for officers' positions in the reserve army corps is one of the features of the training.

GOOD TREATMENT OF MEN WILL KEEP THEM SATISFIED

Valley Employers Consider
Means of Cooperation
With Workers

Instead of holding their monthly sessions at various cities, members of Fox River Valley Industrial Relations association at their meeting in the grill room of Menasha hotel Tuesday evening decided to meet henceforth in Neenah or Menasha because of their central location.

It was decided to limit also the number of addresses at each meeting to one to be followed by a round table discussion which is to be participated in by not to exceed four members. An unsuccessful effort was made to discontinue further meetings until September.

The meeting Tuesday evening was preceded by a supper and was attended by 40 members from Green Bay, Kaukauna, Appleton, Neenah, Menasha, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac. John McAndrew of the Menasha Wooden Ware Co. and president of the association acted as toastmaster.

NO SATISFIED EMPLOYEE
Three 20-minute addresses were delivered the first of which was by George Banta, whose subject was, "What Makes a Satisfied Employee?" The speaker said he interviewed several employers on the subject and one said there was no such human being unless it was one paid twice as much as he earned.

"Since the war we have been trying to get back to normal and are having a hard time doing it," Mr. Banta said. "It seems to me one of the first things an employer ought to think of, if interested in his employees, is that the employer should be consistent. I think we ought to be sincere in dealing with employees. I think we ought to be frank and let them know what is doing."

NOT AN INVESTMENT
"We ought not to look at welfare as means of investment. I think that is one reason why welfare work has not been a success because of the suspicion in the mind of the employer that the employer is doing it to get his good will."

"I think we are making progress in getting better satisfied men. This valley has been fortunate. I think an organization of this kind is a great means of doing this kind of work."

Henry E. Polly of the Paine Lumber Co. of Oshkosh was assigned the same subject. He said he wanted men satisfied. He would either make them satisfied or get rid of them. He said he had been in employment work for only two years.

"I think there are two things," the speaker continued, "that we should take into consideration in making a contented employer, working conditions and the remuneration."

SELECT FOREMEN
"I think one of the things that make quite a difference to the employee is the attitude of the foreman. Some people leave because of certain foremen. There are foremen that I should not like to work under. Working men like to have good treatment just as we do."

In discussing "Vocational Aptitude," S. B. Harding of Harding Machine Works of Oshkosh spoke from the standpoint of an employer which he had always been. "Vocational aptitude has been reduced to a scientific basis and it is now possible for men to be placed in their right positions," he said.

The speaker suggested that members work along this line and related an instance where a firm paid a woman an salary of $23,000 a year to classify its employees.

NEED AN IDEAL
He called attention to the successful operation of the Des Moines, Ia., employment bureau and suggested that one of the officers be invited to deliver an address before the association. He suggested also that a committee be appointed to plan a campaign of work for the association which he said should have an ideal before it in order to accomplish a definite end.

Because of the lateness of the hour W. J. Peacock of the Northern Paper Co. of Green Bay dispensed with delivering his address on "Mental Averages Among Employees" until a later meeting. The session closed with a round of table discussion led by George F. Humbert of the Northern Casket Co. of Fond du Lac.

"Y" CLOTHES DRIVE GETS HOOVER O. K.

Outfits Are Being Obtained by Committee of Dormitory
Men Here

Herbert Hoover is one of the prominent men of the country who have given indorsement to the campaign being conducted by dormitory men of the Y. M. C. A.'s to collect 50,000 clothing outfits for students and teachers in Russia.

Facsimile copies of Hoover's letter have been received by the local dormitory committee which is making a canvass here to obtain Appleton's quota of the clothing. A number of outfits already have been assembled and tagged for shipment with the unique tags printed in Russian.

All persons who have used suits, caps and shoes are asked to telephone the Y. M. C. A., No. 2266 so they may be called for this week.

Mr. Hoover's letter addressed to C. V. Hibbard, of New York, reads:

"The appeal that your Mr. Colton sends from Russia for 50,000 clothing outfits for students and teachers will, I hope, be promptly met. All of our reports agree that the need is great. Shipment should be made by early summer, so that the material may reach Russia in ample time for distribution before the cold weather sets in."

SIMON CHEESE CO. TANGLE RESULTS IN ANOTHER SUIT

First National Bank Sues to Recover $10,000 on Promissory Note

Trial of a suit brought by the First National Bank of Appleton against George J. Schmitz, Kansas City, Mo., to compel payment of a note for $10,000 issued by the latter has been held up pending decision of Judge A. M. Spencer on a motion argued in municipal court.

The case is an outgrowth of the tangled financial affairs of N. Simon Cheese company and relates to negotiations for the alleged sale of part of the stock of this company to Mr. Schmitz by J. F. Hovorka & Co., Milwaukee, brokers.

Fiedler, Fiedler and Jackson, Mineral Point, Wis., attorneys for Mr. Schmitz, have introduced a motion asking that the Simon and Hovorka companies be made joint defendants with Mr. Schmitz in the case. J. P. Frank represents the plaintiff, who has demurred to the motion.

Mr. Schmitz charges that the note in violation of an agreement relative to the sale of the stock. He was asked by the Milwaukee brokers, representing N. Simon Cheese company, to buy shares of the above amount in the firm. He said he was unable to make the purchase unless he could dispose of 248 shares of stock in the Kraft Brothers Cheese company.

CONDITIONAL PURCHASE
The defendant says he delivered his Kraft stock to J. F. Hovorka & Co. representatives to be sold by them, and tendered the note dated July 15, 1921 for the Simon company stock, to be paid on demand only if the Kraft stock were sold. The note was made payable to the First Wisconsin National bank, Milwaukee. It was said to have been delivered before maturity to the Simon company and placed with the Appleton bank, after which suit was filed. The Kraft stock was attached by the sheriff when the suit was brought.

Stock in the Kraft Brothers Cheese company amounted to 176 shares of preferred stock and 70 shares of common stock, and its value is appraised at $4,000.

Mr. Schmitz admits that 50 shares of common stock and 30 of preferred of the N. Simon Cheese company were delivered to him. He has possession only because of the fact that his Kraft stock was not returned to him, and says he has in no way accepted the shares nor any of the dividends. He is ready to return the stock at any time.

It is alleged by the defendant that the title of N. Simon Cheese company to the promissory note is defective and that J. F. Hovorka & Co. and the Simon company "were attempting to negotiate said alleged note in fraud to the condition upon which the same was placed in the hands of the said J. F. Hovorka & Co."

Dismissal of the action is asked by Mr. Schmitz and he requests that the note be returned and cancelled and the Kraft stock certificates be surrendered to him.

tribution before the cold weather sets in.

"The fact that the work of collection is to be done by the 51,902 men in the dormitories of the Y. M. C. A. buildings in America indicates a ready and practicable means for promptly obtaining a considerable quantity of the outfits needed. I am sure that Y. M. C. A. dormitory men and other members will respond to this appeal, which comes at a time when they are discarding their winter clothing. I also commend the plan most heartily to the support of the Y. M. C. A. membership."

Would Have U. S. Build Drive Thru Reservation

Saving for the autoist are picturesque drive along upper Wolf river through Menominee Indian reservation before the woodman's axe reaches it is an idea that is taking shape in the minds of a number of people. It is possible that Outagamie, Shawano and Brown counties may unite this summer in a move to have congress appropriate enough money to build the highway of concrete.

It is said that there is no more scenic region anywhere than the wooded banks of the Wolf north of Shawano. A highway along the river course would cover about 25 miles, but it is said that its construction would save autoists 20 miles on their journey to Keshena and northern recreation spots. The cost would be approximately $250,000. Benefits would be derived in a number of ways if the government would go through with the project. It is said. The fame of the Wolf river drive would go all over the United States and would draw thousands of tourists through this locality every summer. The presence of the roadway would be insurance against destroying the scenery which will have become the object of constructing the pavement.

Some organized effort may be made to obtain the highway if enough interest is shown by residents of the three counties.

Roads to the Northern part of the state are said to be in excellent condition since highway crews began their work this spring.

He goes through the village of Gillet to Heinz, then follows county highway 11, until he finds himself on state highways No. 32 and 64 again. This is a scenic route with well patrolled roads.

ROTARIANS FIND WEEKLY MEETING REAL SURPRISE

Fellowship Committee "Kidnaps" Members and Hustles Them to Park

Novel entertainment was provided the Rotary club Tuesday by the Fellowship club. All members met at the Sherman house for the weekly luncheon, but were considerably surprised to find themselves blindfolded and marched out of the room lockstep fashion like so many convicts.

Under the strict discipline of the Fellowship committee, headed by H. P. Buck, the men were pushed into a waiting dray wagon and then driven to Alicia park. Those who did not have their caps or hats with them at the time of the kidnapping, went to the park without them. Spectators laughingly hailed the strange truck as it ambled along College avenue. But the passengers, who were too conscientious to peek were uncommonly nervous. When the truck made 15 miles an hour, they thought it was 50. Every time it made a sharp turn, they were nearly thrown off their feet by the lurch.

When the party arrived at the park, the bandages were removed and were served with luncheon by Mrs. George Merkle in true picnic style. The entertainment was entirely informal. Speeches, for once, were to be had. A picnic contest was staged, in which E. A. Krug won over Claude Hockley and Homer Dawson. Mr. Dawson was forced to gorge as punishment for peeking on the way down. A novel peanut eating contest was won by Lee C. Rasey, runner, and Claude Snider, eater. Games such as swat'em, horse shoe pitching, indoor baseball, medicine ball and others were played. The picnic broke up at 1:30.

ZUEHLKE FAMILY BACK FROM EUROPE

Tourists Find Costs Exorbitant and Traveling Difficult Abroad

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Zuehlke and daughter, Miss Floret E. Zuehlke, returned Tuesday evening from a six weeks' visit in Europe. They cut their stay short because of the manner in which they were held up by hotels and restaurants and because of the delays occasioned in securing the necessary papers to get from one country to another.

Mr. Zuehlke and his wife and daughter spent most of their time in Germany, where they found practically all the people employed but earning very little because of the depreciation of their money. Their privations and sufferings do not appear on the surface. The streets were filled with children fairly well clothed and fairly well fed. Milk and butter are very scarce and bring exorbitant prices. Clothing of all kinds is commencing to make its appearance in shop windows.

FRANCE READY TO CONFER ON WAR DEBT PAYMENTS

Paris — The French government has informed the American War Debt funding commission that it is ready to send a special mission to the United States to confer regarding the payment of the French debt.

Auto Is Damaged

An automobile owned by Leslie C. Smith, 1242 Harrisst, was damaged slightly Tuesday afternoon while parked on Lake-st. outside the new St. Elizabeth hospital. A truck loaded with building material made too short a turn and protruding objects crashed into the side of the machine.

If Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers

Be careful what you take for your kidney, bladder or urinary troubles. Remember that Dr. Carey's PRESCRIPTION NO. 777 is absolutely free from dangerous drugs and has had 50 years of success for kidney and bladder troubles. Sure relief or money back on large bottle. Schlitz Bros. Co., and all good druggists have it.

LIQUOR CASE TRIAL POSTPONED AGAIN

The trial of Henry Vanable of Kaukauna, whose case has been pending since last winter and which was to open in municipal court Wednesday morning, progressed no further than the drawing of a jury. As two material witnesses for the state were absent, the case was again adjourned until June 12. One of the men is serving on the grand jury of the United States district court in Milwaukee. Vanable is charged with the sale of intoxicating liquor. He was arrested Jan. 21 and arraigned Jan. 23. Rooney and Gorgan are representing the defendant.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Redlin and Miss Frieda Redlin were in Green Bay Wednesday where they visited Richard Redlin who is in a hospital.

Mrs. Lucille Greer of Meadville, Pa. is visiting in the city for several days.

Woman Blamed By Her Family

Restless, irritable, nervous, excitable and exacting is the charge against her by those nearest and dearest. How little they realize the struggle the overworked wife and mother is making to keep about and perform the hundred and one duties that devolve upon her! Every hour her headaches, backaches and pains drag her down until she can stand it no longer. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored more women in this condition of health and happiness than any other medicine. The grateful letters we are continually publishing in this paper from women who have found health by its use prove it.

SCARF BETRAYS
YOUR CHARACTER;
NEEDS WATCHING

American Women Have Not Learned to Make Clothes
Talk for Them

BY MARIAN HALE

Every neighborhood has its gossip
and so has every wardrobe.

The best gossip who acts as personal press agent and general pur-veyor for publicity for everyone on the block often causes us annoyance but at least we can find out what she is saying.

But the gossip that lives in our own wardrobes is more understanding. It makes the most startling discovery about us and we never know it.
All of which leads up to my text
today. Watch your scarf.

I know it is lovely and alluring and innocent looking but he not misled. Danger often lies in the length of chiffon or the length of lace you add to your costume.

This season we are not only taking our scarfs straight, so to speak, but are taking them in modified form on practically everything we wear. They appear hanging from hats, disguised as pince-nez, and even as a part of the gown itself.

The danger of the scarf lies in the fact that it has no character of its own. It is only a camouflage taking on the qualities of the person wearing it.

On a coquette a scarf will flirt out tactlessly and unrestrainedly. Yet put the same article on a woman of stern moral fiber and it will immediately take on dignity and assume a virtue it has not.

The scarf is old very old—as old as woman herself. It belongs to women with old souls and a knowledge of the arts of their sex. Though the flapper has adopted it as a part of her uniform she has made nothing of it.

To get an ideal of its possibilities
study the Oriental or the Spanish woman.

The Oriental woman will wind a few yards of chiffon about her face in so subtle a manner that she is more alluringly veiled than the most ravishing beauty whose face is exposed.

The Spanish senorita can say with her scarf practically anything she may put into words and often much more. Her conversations with men are closely chaperoned in her hat hood days, and a third person must always be present.

The stern duenna may regulate her talk but how can she regulate what the girl may say with her fringed scarf or her lace mantilla?

Oriental and Spanish women have often developed the language of their clothes far beyond that of their speech.

If you can manage a scarf or shawl
as well as they can, by all means adopt it of mind. If not, study their ways and be wise.

It is interesting to notice that in countries where there is great conversational freedom between young men and women the language of clothes is neglected.

Higher education has not considered it. The serious young college sophomore with her hornrimmed spectacles and her untold of books,
may converse with her college professor in several languages and have a fair working knowledge of French and French, then proclaim her ignorance of all the arts and attributes of her sex when she carelessly dons her scarf.

The scarf is the sort of thing that must be managed or it will manage
you. And at all times it will compete with you in conversation. It will tell pleasant little falsehoods for you, if you like, or the truth if you aren't careful.

LEARN A WORD
EVERY DAY

Today's word is PERSONAGE.
It's pronounced — per-sun-aj, with accent on the first syllable.
It means—more than the mere word
'person' implying a person of note,
distinction, importance.
It comes from — English "person"
the origin of which is uncertain though possibly from Latin, "person" a mask.
It is used like this—"A number of infamous personages are mentioned in connection with the charges of war
grafting recently made in Congress."

APPLETON MAN BECOMES

Darl Kromer, assistant principal of Iola high school, has just been selected as principal for the coming year. The high school has an enrollment of more than 100 students and the grades which occupy the same building more than 400 pupils. Mr.
Kromer is a son of Mr. and Mrs.
Jacob Kromer of Appleton and graduated from Lawrence college last June.

23. A six piece orchestra has been arranged for and an enjoyable time is assured to all.

BRING UP YOUR BABY BY MUSIC
CLASSIC DANCER ADVISES

BY MARIAN HALE

It is no longer considered good form to rock the baby to sleep at night and throw in a lullaby or so for good measure.

The modern offspring is placed between the she is by modern parents who turn out the light and say good night—like that.

Any vocal selections usually are rendered by the child in protest.

Which is all very well according to Lada the classical American dancer who has just been engaged for a season in London and Paris but she makes a plea for music for babies.

I believe a child should hear music and feel its rhythm from earliest infancy, she says.

If a mother does not wish to sing her child to sleep she should sing to it as some time of the day.

Nothing relaxes a child more than music. A nervous fearful child often will respond to it and become tractable under its influence when stern disciplinary measures fail.

Rhythmic games in which children listen as they play promote better feeling than any others.

Teachers in the public schools for some time have understood the value of breaking monotony of school hours
by cabaretism and drills to music.

Now they are going further and teaching dancing particularly folk dancing to build up the physical system. The ease and grace with which children taken up dancing proves that it is a natural expression.

Nearly every child dances beautifully. It is only when he grows up and becomes conscious of himself and tries to do something he does not understand that he loses grace and ease.

I hope the day will come when every child is taught to express himself through the medium of the song and dance.

We have rooms to dine in, rooms to sleep in, to write and cook in,
but how many homes have a room
to play in?

Dancing is good for the body, prevents colds, keeps the heart and lungs in good shape, and the fingers and toes are kept in good condition. So far so good. Has increased anything at all we do on dancing for us and we will let them dance.

more alluringly veiled than the most

OUR FIRST YEAR

Chapter 36 — Terribly Tempted

By a Bride

"I'll never feel safe until I get Bonny married," Mr. Tearle explained.
"She's unmanageable. She's already given up cigars for a pipe, a carved meerscham—gold and amber tippings—but still a pipe! She thinks it's cute! Same way, she thinks it cute to elope!"

Mr. Tearle dropped into my large and overstuffed chair. I was glad I had something big enough to make him comfortable.

"And so, Peg, I've come to you!"

"Bonny isn't in love with George,"
I assured him, "nor with your Swiss chauffeur. I really think that child is suffering from what she considers a broken heart. Mr. Tearle, don't you know that she's been in love with Bart Elliott a long time?"

"When she's going to have him?"

"What's the matter with the boy?"

"You see—he seems flappers!"

"Loathes them! Never looks at them!"

"So Bonny takes to old George as supplying more excitement than boys of her own age?"

"So Elliott has some sense after all? I supposed he was only a mal-lone hero!"

"Bart's a peach—awfully poor—no family—nothing! But he's too good—for most girls!"

"Peg, I'd accept any son-in-law on your recommendation! Elliott can have my money—if he can win my daughter!"

"But we'd better not put it so—to him!" I laughed.

"But we can put it to ourselves, Peg!" Then we laughed together.

"Get her out of town, can't you?"

"Get her away from Bradshaw and get her away from Bart together! Proprietor! That's everything! Throw them together!"

"Mr. Tearle, could you lend me a car or two for a motor party in the Berkshires?"

"All the cars you want—new cars
if you say so. Pegging, I'll give you a car if you separate Bonny from Bradshaw!"

"Suppose Mary Smith and Andy
Smith, and Jack and I and Bonny (take a tip, and I invite Jeanne Alson and Bart to go along?"

"Pegging, as a little girl you were always the cleverest in our neighborhood. There's a big dividend from this—if you succeed. And I guess I'd better give you one of the cars, anyway!"

After the fear man had gone I sat me down and meditated upon several exciting possibilities.

Bonny and Bart—what a fortunate pair! Bonny would be! And a fortune for Bart—without working! Really, matchmaking was a wonderful game!

And a brand new car for me whether or not I saved Bonny from old George! Mr. Tearle often had given lovely presents to me and to all of his daughter's friends. He had given me a chest of flat silver when I married. Nevertheless Jack never would let him give us an auto. No use of trying to make Jack see anything like that!

Well then—what if I were to ask
Mr. Tearle to give me a check to cover all those horrid bills in my desk?

Just by explaining to Mr. Tearle
I could pay them all! And dear old
Jack never would need to know!

Household
Hints

EASILY LAUNDERED
Nightgowns of Italian silk are now profusely trimmed with lace and embroidered.

GINGHAM AND CREPE
Gingham and crepe de chine join their forces to make some of the new mid-summer frocks.

LACE AND BEADS
Dinner gowns of black lace are rendered more ornate by outlining the lace pattern with small black beads.

WHOLE NAME
It is quite the thing now to embroder the whole name in the handkerchief in tiny letters instead of using merely a monogram.

DECORATIVE Candelsticks of wrought iron are highly decorative. They are most effective in a room where the Italian influence dominates.

HIGHWAY 54 WILL BE IMPROVED WITH STONE

The county stone crusher will be put into service within a few days for the first time this year. It will be stationed at Pingel's gravel pit west of Shiocton and will be used for supplying material for one and a half miles of 12-foot crushed stone road on highway 54. This piece of the road between Shiocton and New London has been somewhat sandy but will be greatly improved by the layer of crushed stone. The work will require about two weeks.

Draws the Air Clear Through the Carpet
This Way
Not This Way
Eureka's cleaning is rapid and thorough because it draws through the fabric more air moving at greater velocity. Instantly this unobstructed suction dislodges embedded dirt. It cleans faultlessly by greater volume and velocity of air.

EUREKA'S unequalled suction is largely responsible for its popularity in more than 350,000 homes. It does not depend upon unsatisfactory, inefficient, and difficult-to-regulate mechanical brushes. It removes more than visible surface dirt. By drawing the air clear through the fabric, it whips out all the embedded dirt as well. It cleans quickly, completely and thoroughly. May we demonstrate for you?

Linda Lee Inc.

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

©1922 by Louis Joseph Vance

BEGIN HERE TODAY

After five years of married life, LUCINDA DRUCE decided that youth, beauty and social position were not sufficient for happiness. The heavy drinking and promiscuous flirtation of her husband.

BELLYAMY had destroyed his wife's love for him and he has been warned that his next escapade will mean a definite break. Events are in this state when Lucinda visits the studio of

ALMA DALEY, motion picture queen, on the invitation of HARRY LONTAINE, husband of her school-girl chum.

FANNY LONTAINE, Lontaine is about to form a moving picture company in California. Lucinda is greatly interested in the work at the studio but laughingly rejects Alma Daley's offer of a chance to appear in the next picture. That evening, at the Palais Royal, Lucinda is dancing with Daubney when an intoxicated couple crash into them and fall to the floor.

GO ON WITH THE STORY

Pertisive cracks and auffs of clowns broke out on all sides, a space was cleared round the unfortunate, "Are you all right, Linda?" Dobbin asked. She nodded and tried to smile. "Let's get out of this."

"No—wait!" Lucinda insisted. Perhaps she's hurt."

She brushed her arm aside, only to discover that the overthrown woman had regained her feet, and now stood watching her partner in shrewish fury as, grinning foolishly, he scrambled up.

"You clumsy dumbbell!" she stormed in a rasping voice that must have carried clearly half across the room. "I hope to Gawd I got enough sense not to dance with you again when your pickled."

And catching her first glimpse of the man's crimson face, Lucinda yielded all at once to Daubney's insistence.

But she never quite knew how they got back to their table.

XI

But even with the three sides of the box affording their false show of privacy, it never entered Lucinda's head to sit down and pretend nothing had happened, the instinct to fly at once from this theater of disgrace was still predominant. Only for a moment she rested standing while her eyes, darkly dilated, sought Daubney's.

"You saw him, of course?"

Dobbin made a vague gesture of sympathy. "Frightfully sorry. . . . Lucinda shrugged. "Don't be. It wasn't your fault."

"I presume we couldn't have been mistaken. . . . Dobbin ventured half heartedly.

"No; it was Bel. I think I'd like to go. Let me have the carriage check, and I'll wait in the car."

Daubney surrendered the pasteboard slip and called for the check as Lucinda went out.

At the street door she gave the attendant the carriage-check together with a coin. "And hurry, please!" The man saluted respectfully and vanished.

She hastened to the street, a move which she found immediate reason to repent. Only a few feet away Belamy stood with an affectionate arm round the shoulders of the door-porter. A knot of grinning bystanders had already begun to gather.

Bel's derby was perched on his forehead, and he was looking at her with a look of intense interest, though he had contrived to worry two buttons through the wrong buttonholes, and he was explaining, unconsciously to everybody within a wide radius, the personal service he required in return for the ten dollar bill which he was waving beneath the porter's nose.

"Now hshh, Jim. . . . Do mind my callin' you Jim, do you, ol' scout? . . . Get this straight: M'wife's here 'nigh'nd I don't want her to know I wash here, see? If she don't know I wash here, she's got nothin' on me, nothin' 'all, see? So you don't know me, you never heard of me, see?"

"Yes, Mr. Druce."

Sick with mortification, Lucinda turned from the sound of that babbling voice of a fool—and heard her own name pronounced.

"The car is here, Mrs. Druce."

In a wild stare she identified the face of her chauffeur, saw that he understood the situation and was anxious to be helpful.

"Wait," she quavered.

And then by a miracle of willpower she managed to master her nerves and putting aside her horror and humiliation, took thought quickly and clearly.

"All I want you to do is remember, if Mishish Druce asks if you've seen me, you never heard of me, don't know me 'all—see, Jim, get what I mean?"

As Lucinda approached the porter must have guessed who she was, for he spoke to Belamy in a low voice, and the latter swung round with startled eyes and a dropping jaw. She closed her fingers on his wrist and put all her strength into that grasp.

"Come Bel," she said clearly and not unkindly. "Please don't keep me waiting. The car is here, we're going home."

For a moment the balance wavered, then Bel's eyes fell, and she knew she had won.

"Oh, a right," he mumbled with strange docility. "Didn't know you were waitin', Linda. Get in the car—be with you in just a minute."

"No," she said firmly—"you're coming with me now."

She drew him away. He yielded without remonstrance, permitted her to lead him to the door of the car, stumbled in on his knees, and crawled up to the seat.

Lucinda followed, the door closed behind her with a clap sweeter than music in her hearing. And with purring gears the car shot out of range of those leering faces.

Lucinda had forgotten Dobbin as utterly as if she had never known him.

Belamy lay in a loose slouch, breathing heavily. The passing lights revealed the stupidity of his congested features. His eyes were half-closed, he seemed to be asleep.

When at length the car stopped, she jumped out and, leaving Belamy to the care of the chauffeur and footman, ran up to her rooms. The maid waiting there she dismissed for the night in a half a dozen words whose decision sent the woman from her in astonishment.

Alone, her first move was to secure the door communicating with Bel's rooms. Then she threw herself upon the bed. She heard Bel mauling incoherently to his valet, the valet seemed to be trying to make him listen to reason and failing in the end. The neck of a decanter chattered against the rim of a glass, there was a lull in the murmur of voices, then a thick cry and the thud of a fall. After that the quiet was little disturbed by the valet's labors with the body of the drunkard. Eventually the man went out and closed the door. In the subsequent silence the clock chimed twelve.

Lucinda rose then, and changed to her simplest street suit.

For half an hour or so she was busy at her desk and dressing-table, packing a cheque book and her jewels with other belongings in a small hand-bag. She did not falter once or waste a single move through indecision. Indeed, it did not once occur to her that there was anything to be done but what she meant to do.

Shortly after one o'clock, she left

"WHY SHOULD I FORGIVE HIM FOR BEING TRUE TO HIMSELF?"

Bel snoring, crept down the stairs, and with infinite stealth let herself out to the street.

Spurred by irrational fear lest Belamy wake up, discover her flight, and give her chase, Lucinda made in haste for Fifth avenue; a cab slid up to the curb, its driver with two fingers to the cap soliciting a fare. Lucinda breathed the first address that came to mind—"Grand Central, please"—hopped in, and shrieked fearfully away from the windows.

At the station a negro porter with a red cap opened the cab door and took possession of her single piece of luggage, and when she had paid off the taxi and looked to him in indecision, prompted her with: "What train was yo' wishin' to take, ma'am?"

An instant later Lucinda was wondering why she asked "the first train for Chicago, please." She knew no reason why she should have named Chicago rather than any other city where she was unknown and where she might count on being free to think things out in her own time and fashion.

"Inexpressibly shocked. Arriving tomorrow. Will call on you ten a. m. Meanwhile Bank of Michigan will supply you with funds in any amount you may require, if you will be pleased to identify yourself to Mr. South and there."

The author of this telegram, which was delivered on the morning of Lucinda's fifth day in Chicago, was punctual to the minute of his appointment, otherwise he would hardly have been the rectilinear gentleman of the track-coast school that he was.

Notwithstanding that Hartford Willis was pledged to a code of morals and manners vinted in the early eighteen-eighties, and so implacably antagonistic to the general trend of present-day thought on the divorced question, his great affection for Lucinda predisposed him to allow that the course she had taken with Belamy had been the only one his conduct had left open to her.

"My dear Lucinda," Willis intoned deliberately, "I must say you seem to be bearing up remarkably well, all things considered, remarkably well."

"I've stopped howling and drumming the floor with my heels," Lucinda admitted—"if that's what you mean. When I found it didn't do any good. I gave it up, and I've felt more cheerful ever since."

"Cheerful!" Willis repeated in a sepulchral voice.

"More like an average human being who's been horribly hurt but who can't see why life should be counted a total loss for all that."

"You don't think it would be worth while," Willis suggested as one in duty bound, "to forgive Belamy, give him another chance?"

"I don't know that I've got anything to forgive him. Mr. Willis, should I forgive him for being true to himself? It's myself I can't forgive, because I was silly enough to let him go on as long as I did, making me a laughing stock. . . . Besides, I'm not so sure it's good for us to be forgiven our sins; we're all such vain creatures, we're too apt to take forgiveness as a license to misbehave still more. . . . Don't you see?" (Continued in Our Next Issue)

UNCLE JOHN TOBIN SAYS HE WISHES THE BOYS WHO BUY FROM HIM WOULD WAIT TILL THEY GET HOME BEFORE TRYING OUT THEIR KNIVES—

BUSTER SLICKS UP HIS OLD 'STRAW'—

RUTH GETS BACK IN YANKEE LINEUP NEXT SATURDAY

Bambino Must Hurry To Surpass His Home Run Record Of Last Season

Swat King Forced to Hit Homer Every Other Day and Three on One Day to Hang Up New Circuit Clout Mark.

Babe Ruth will be up and at 'em again Saturday.

The Big Bambino, who, together with Bob Meusel, another member of the New York American league club, was banished last fall by Commissioner Landis for playing an exhibition game with the Buffalo International league team after the world's series had ended, in violation of the rule that prohibits world's series players from indulging in such exhibitions, will be allowed back in the Yankee lineup Saturday, when his suspension ends.

Ruth will take up his big war club on the New York Polo grounds as the Yankees open a three game series with the St. Louis Browns, Kenneth Williams, who is leading all big league sluggers in home runs for this season, having 10 to his credit, is a member of the St. Louis club.

Ruth's appearance in the lineup Saturday will mark his first appearance in a league game this year, 35 days after the opening of the pennant race. With one-fourth of the season gone, Ruth must slam out one home run at least every other day and three on one day to surpass his record of last year.

Since Ruth has heard of the home run hitting of Williams and has been shown the Yankees can win games without his services, since he has found Judge Landis means to enforce the rules and since he has discovered what it means not to be allowed to play, it is reported Ruth's cap fits him better.

STILL DRAWING CARD
But regardless of the rise to fame of Ken Williams, Ruth is still the pride of New York and the fans will crowd the Polo grounds to see him in action. He remains the biggest drawing card of baseball and will be greeted by great crowds wherever he appears.

In the view of many fans the attitude that Ruth has displayed since receiving his "sentence" from Commissioner Landis, the quiet manner in which he has conducted himself, his willingness to "play the game" and his apparent determination to make up for lost time—all of this will bring as many people to the ball yards to see him this year as did last.

According to those who have the Bambino's confidence he has been elated over the fact that the Yankees have sent him back in the lineup and now that he knows that he is a trifle more valuable as a magnet to the box office than as a counter in the total scoring he will attempt more than ever to be more of a first-class baseball player and a more diligent purveyor of satisfaction to fandom in general.

INTERLAKES TO BE STRONG FOR KIMBERLY GAME

Three Teams in Outagamie County Loop Open Home Season Next Sunday

Hundreds of Kimberly baseball fans will be in Appleton Sunday to see the Kimberly and Interlakes teams of the Outagamie County Baseball league clash at Interlakes park. The game is the first league contest of the season for the Interlakes on their home grounds and a great crowd is expected to be out to help the Purple and White get their home season under way.

The Kimberly team showed class last Sunday in defeating the strong Black Creek aggregation by a score of 5 to 0 and supporters of the club expect their athletes to continue their way to pennantville by handing the Interlakes a beating here Sunday. Manager Gregory of the Interlakes, however, is strengthening his team this week and sending his men through hard sessions of practice every evening. He expects to have his players in top shape for the game Sunday and believes the Interlakes will win from the Kimberly outfit.

The Interlakes-Kimberly game will get underway at 2:30. The contest will be preceded by a parade and opening day celebration at the ball park.

Dale opens its home season Sunday against the Hortonville team. Hortonville defeated the Interlakes last Sunday but the Dale players expect to hang a wallop on their old rivals Sunday.

Black Creek has its first home game of the season Sunday, meeting the Freedom aggregation. Freedom defeated Dale last Sunday but Black Creek won from Freedom in a practice game on May 7 and Manager Blick expects his team to turn the trick again in next Sunday's tussle.

YOUNG MEN'S TEAM WINS FROM CARDINALS, 12-3

St. Agnes Young Men's society baseball team defeated the Sherman Place Cardinals in Jones Park Sunday, 12 to 3. L. Drexler heaved for the young men with E. Schwartz on the receiving end. Buerge and Kasper were the Cardinals battery.

Next Sunday the young men's team will play the Pierce Park squad in Jones park. The young men club have a junior team in Appleton. Games may be arranged by getting in touch with Matt Hoffman, 1019 Third-st. His telephone is 1455.

When You Score A Ball Game

REMEMBER—

The scoring of a base hit often resolves itself into purely a question of judgment. What one scorer may regard as a ball too hard to handle and score as a hit, may be considered an error by some other scorer. This question of judgment usually comes up on fast and slow hit balls.

CONNIE MACK PICKS IDEAL BALL OUTFIT

Veteran Manager Springs Surprises in Naming Star Club of All Time

BY BILLY EVANS

Who are the greatest players of the past 40 years?

No one could possibly answer that question better than Connie Mack, famous manager of the Philadelphia Athletics.

Connie has been in the national pastime so many years as player and manager, that he is a link between the old era and the present period.

Mack's all-star team for the past 40 years includes six players from the American League and four from the National. Here is the way Connie sizes up the players on his team:

"Ewing is the best all round catcher I ever saw. Other catchers have outshone him in certain departments. He was a great player in every respect—batting, fielding and judgment."

THREE GREAT PLAYERS

"Mike Kelly was the brainiest catcher that ever lived and Charley Bennett the best receiver, while for grace alone, Tom Daly."

"It is difficult to draw the line in pitching with so many great pitchers to consider."

"Mathewson is the man I would pick. He had a great curve ball, plenty of speed, courage, control and a knowledge of how to pitch to every batter. He was what we call a smart pitcher."

"Waddell was the best left hander I mean the Greatest as far as actual ability was concerned. If it came to a question, though, of Rube or Eddie Plank on my club, I would have taken Plank."

"Sisler for first base. A year ago I might have selected Hal Chase. There never will be a better fielder than Chase, but Sisler is great at everything."

"Give me Eddie Collins for my second baseman. There is a great ball player. Lajoie was the most graceful second baseman I ever saw and a great one. Taking all things into consideration, however, Collins has the shade."

"Wagner for shortstop. In the old days Herman Long and Hughie Jennings were stars. We have some remarkable shortstops in both major leagues today. However, all things considered I like Wagner best."

COLLINS A WONDER
"I would pick Jimmy Collins far and away above everybody else for third base. He was a wonder. He could handle bunts, make quick plays to first or second, hit well and was a ways playing for his ball club."

"In the outfield Clarke, Speaker and Cobb. It would be impossible to get together a stronger trio."

"Clarke used uncanny judgment in playing his batters. Speaker covers more ground than any man I ever watched play the outfield. It is useless to say anything about Cobb, he is in a class by himself as a ball player."

There you have Connie Mack's greatest ball team of all time.

IF THIS PLAY COMES UP

Here's Your Decision

If a fielder has the ball in his hands ready to touch a base runner and the base runner, in the opinion of the umpire, runs more than three feet from a direct line between the bases, in order to avoid being touched, the umpire shall call the base runner out for so doing. This is a play that often causes much confusion. The umpire protects himself by rendering an immediate decision, when he feels that the base runner has taken more than his rights to avoid being touched with the ball. In 49 cases out of 100, if a base runner avoids the touch of a fielder with the ball, who is waiting directly in his path, the runner is ordered to do so must necessarily run out of line.

PLESTINA AND PESEK WRESTLE TO A DRAW

Chicago—Divalry, for mat honors between Martin Plestina of Chicago and John Pesek of Sheldon, Nebraska, still were unsettled Wednesday after their second meeting, described as one of the most remarkable wrestling matches ever witnessed in Chicago. The bout had been advertised as a finish contest, but after three hours and 22 minutes mat work Tuesday night the big men were so nearly exhausted that the city athletic commission which governs such events, directed that the match be halted. Thereupon Emil Thiry, referee, declared it no contest.

BRANDT SECURES NEW PERFORMERS FOR BALL TEAM

Appleton Club to be Strong for Contest With Kaukauna Sunday

Appleton Fox River Valley Baseball club will be strengthened by the addition of two new high class men. The new players will be in the lineup against Kaukauna next Sunday at Kaukauna. Manager August Brandt would not divulge the names of the two men but says they are star performers both in the field and at the bat. They will fill the first base and right field positions.

Manager Mike Murphy and Klawitter have been released. Theirs has not been handed the blue ticket but will not get in Sunday's tilt. He can play both the outfield and infield and will be carried on the Appleton team as utility man.

Schultz, Schott and Gaffke are now making their homes in Appleton. It is expected Gaffy and Braby will come here to reside during the summer and efforts will be made to have the new players Manager Brandt is after stay in this city during the league season. With all the players living here practice sessions can be held every day.

The players now in Appleton—including Duran, Luedke, Schultz and Gaffke—are practicing every evening at Brandt park. They do some fielding but spend most of the practice sessions working the willow.

With two new players in the lineup and the men having batting practice this week it is expected the Appleton team will show better defensive and offensive strength against Kaukauna next Sunday than they did against Menasha in the first game of the pennant race.

SCHAEFER LEADS COCHRAN IN TILT

Chicago—"Young Jake" Schaefer, champion Wednesday held a slim lead over Welker Cochran, challenged as the result of the first night's play in their 15.00 point match for the 18.2 ballline billiard championship.

After a general show of mediocrity in the early innings the young experts magically improved in the final stands at the table, and, displaying the accuracy and golden touch beneath him by his father, Jake Schaefer the wizard, "Young Jake" took the first block 500 to 421. To do it, after playing some of the worst billiards ever seen in a championship contest, the champion averaged 120 for the final three innings, garnered the night's high run with a wonderful 202 and rounded out his final try with an unfinished run of 85.

PETTIBONE'S STORE NEWS

The Summer Fashion and May Sale Edition

APPLETON, WISCONSIN, WEDNESDAY, MAY 17, 1922

NO. 10

We announce a new service to our customers in Pettibone's Foreign Buying Department. During the summer, our agent will visit the leading cities of Great Britain and Europe.

Our Mr. Babcock will sail from New York in a few weeks, returning early in September with a great collection of foreign imports which you will be able to inspect here in the store.

For The Lake Are New Bath Suits that Possess Desirable Qualities—They Fit!

The bathing suits we are showing this season have an especial attraction for you—they fit perfectly. Certain models are designed for short stout women, another style is for short slender women, and there are still other styles for tall and slender and tall stout women. Such suits are certain to become the wearer, for they were designed for her.

These suits are all wool and come in the best color combinations. Some have fiber silk stripes. The stylings are new and smart. Sizes for girls and misses, 30 to 36, are priced at $2.95 and $3.45. Women's sizes, 34 to 46, are $5.50, $6.75 to $9.

Silk Scarfs Lend A Touch of Color—

If one wears a white skirt and white blouse, the effect is simply a monotone. But add a touch of color—a bright scarf and the ensemble is immediately worthy of attention.

Plain colors lead in popularity in scarfs for summer. The weaves are unusual enough to be very interesting. Plain or fancy weaves come in old gold, jade, scarlet, orchid, old blue and purple. They are a generous size, $2.95.

Very wide scarfs of rich texture come in plain shades of wall flower and scarlet—$5.95.

Scarfs with narrow black stripes at the outer edge and a wide color down the center combine old blue, Copen or wine with black. $3.95. At the same price are plain colors with bands of stripes at each end.

There Are Petticoats to wear in Summer

The thin cool gowns of summer demand a certain sort of petticoat beneath. These are of radium silk. One style with a hemstitched hem is $5.; another with a seventeen inch shadow proof hem is $7.75.

The colors include poppy red, navy, henna, jade, old Colonial blue, new Mohawk and black. These petticoats are cut to fit snugly and they are an ideal summer wear.

White petticoats of wash satin are $7.75. Two white petticoats of radium silk, with deep shadow proof hems are priced at $5. and $8.50.

Lace Dresses Can be worn Quite Formally—$50 to $65

Among the most graceful gowns that one may wear for the more formal occasions of the summer season are these rich lace dresses.

The models employ georgette and crepe de chine in combination with floating draperies and graceful sleeves of lovely silk lace. The lace is an open mesh, frequently in large pattern effects.

Periwinkle and ecru are lovely in lace gowns and the more formal black or white are also favored this season. There are styles for the younger miss and also matronly models. Sizes 16 to 44. In spite of their beauty, these dresses are modestly priced at $50., $58. and $65.

SPORTS CLOTHES to Include in Vacation Outfits

THE STYLES OF SUMMER have been given over to the world of sports this year. The cleverest and most becoming originations are awaiting you in these displays of new garments for out-of-doors wear. Of course many of them are immediately imagined at the country club or the beach, but they are equally good form for day time usage in town. The vogue for sports apparel has put this year's wardrobe on an economy basis—for the most charming effects can be obtained at a relatively small expenditure. Many of these garments below have only been in the store a few hours—they are the newest modes of the season.

The New Sweaters Are Versatile Garments

Sweaters are regarded in an entirely new light this summer—the idea of warmth scarcely enters into many of them. Many are designed to give color to the costume, and perhaps emphasize the desired silhouette.

New Slip-on Sweaters

These sweaters are very light in weight, a loose open knit. The front is cut in a deep "V" that extends to the waistline to show the blouse beneath. There are no sleeves and the arm holes are cut generously large. All the bright shades are shown, and the sweaters are bound with white. An unusual model at $3.

Collegiate Sweaters

This is a style for quite a different purpose than the first. They are slip-ons with full length sleeves and the collegiate neck line. Fancy drop-stitch and plain weaves are shown in scarlet, or chid, jade, henna and grey. Such a sweater looks well with the addition of white collar and cuffs. Only $3.

Mohair Sweaters

A sweater for jabot waists has a deep "V" front to the waistline. It is made of mohair yarn in shades of rose, orchid, jade, buff and white. A style that a matron may wear. Sizes 36 to 42. $5.

Clever Jackets Are Worn With New Skirts

Picture one of these new jackets with a skirt of eponge. The skirt may be a plaid pattern against a background to match the jacket, or it may be white contrasting with the bright color above.

Wool Jersey Jackets

These new coats are fashioned in a smart Tuxedo style, with a narrow belt all around and clever patch pockets. Odd buttons add a distinctive touch. They are made of very fine wool jersey in shades of tan, Rookie, brown, Copen, poppy red and Kelly green. In all sizes at $5.95.

Original Style Effects In Printed Silk Crepe Frocks For Summer Wear

The quaintest and daintiest of summer frocks are made of printed silk crepes. Many of the materials are patterned in designs of tiny old-fashioned flowers or small Persian figures on white grounds. Others have a colored ground with larger floral figures.

The styles are intended for the smaller figures and are youthful in effect. Some have puffed or slashed sleeves. Perhaps the skirt is inclined to be full, and is gathered in at the waist.

Soft shades of jade, rose and navy add to the cool summery appearance. Sizes 16 and 18 are shown in a variety of styles. $37. to $55.

Sport Dresses that One May Wear Any Time

These sport dresses might simply be called UNUSUAL dresses, for they are so individual and smart in styling. Even the materials are unusual, and in most cases only one of a style or color is shown so you may be assured of something very different.

An extra good value is found in a dress of poppy red jersey with white linen collar and a belt of white leather. A fine quality and only $15.

Wool Dress at $27.

This frock hangs rather straight from the shoulders and is trimmed with pearl buttons. The material is a soft grey wool with wide bars of violet. The collar and cuffs are of violet jersey. The same style comes in Copen with canary.

Worsted Frock $32.75

A smart frock of beige worsted has wide bars of navy and red. It is trimmed in navy.

Wool Challie—$22.50

A dress of wool challie, with a rough texture, comes in French blue or brown with collar and cuffs of ecru lace. $22.50.

Flannel Frock—$32.

Peach flannel makes a gay frock. It is combined with a peach flannel striped in navy. $32.

Tub Frocks Just Out of their Boxes!

NOT the slightest hint of last season's tub frocks are found in these summer showings—they are all beautifully NEW. The fabrics have undergone a delightful change and many familiar ones have been entirely supplanted by other materials. Every day brings a cargo of boxes filled with the most exquisite of wash dresses. Many are so lovely that they are snatched up before they ever appear on our show floor. You will find the prices low.

Crisp Linen Dresses Lead in Favor

Cool linen has been used as the material for these dresses and a wealth of design is employed in making them wholly fascinating. One has touches of bright Bulgarian embroidery. Another sports collar and cuffs of gingham, or perhaps the collar and cuffs are of white linen embroidered in cross stitch. Colored lace and English sateens trim still other linen dresses. These frocks come in grey, orchid, rose, leather brown, orange and blue. $10. to $22.50.

Trim Gingham Dresse for Street Wearing—$9. and $10.

Such dresses as these never expect to see the kitchen—on the contrary they are designed for the afternoon and street. Some are trimmed with organdy collars, cuffs and pockets, embroidered in colored wools, or perhaps the trimmings are plain colored gingham. In pretty patterns at $9. and $10.

Imported Dotted Swiss is Used in Lovely New Frocks

Dotted Swiss is extremely "good" this year. There are shades of orange, lavender, grey, jade and navy. Collars and cuffs are of organdy or filet lace. In graceful models and all sizes at $19.50 and $22.50.

Cool Voiles are Printed in Clever Patterns—at $10.

These cool informal dresses are back in favor again, and lovelier than you ever remember them. There are soft colors in designs of dots and figures on fine material. The trimmings may be collars and cuffs of pleated India muslin. Others display vests and collars of net and lace. $10.

Ratine Dresses are Among the Very Colorful—$10. and $15.

Bright solid colors and the same shades burred in white bring attention to new ratine. Some have pipings of gingham or net for trimming. Very serviceable at $10. and $15.

Colorings and Filmy Fabrics For Graduation

These girlish frocks are exquisite for such an important function as graduation, and they are intended to grace the many parties of summer.

Chiffon and crepe de chine are used in white, summer green, coral, orchid, jade, canary and turquoise. They are quite simple with trimmings of dozens of ruffles.

There are ruffles of self material that simply go around the skirt, or there may be panniers covered with ribbon ruffles. There are horizontal ruffles and vertical ruffles. Shown in the smaller sizes at $22., $25., $27. and $32. up to $50.

The Skirt Is A Garment of Extra Smartness in Material and Design this Year

Skirts are one of the crowning achievements of the season for nothing like them has ever been shown before. In spite of this unusual smartness, all are very modestly priced, as you may see.

Colorful Tweed Skirts

The honest texture of tweed combines with soft colorings to make ideal skirts for all wearings. Tweed skirts may be had with or without fringe trimming, in shades of rose, orchid, green and dark tan. $10. and $12.

Skirts of Eponge

Fringe may also be found in the new skirts of eponge. This material is shown in attractive stripes and plaids and the skirts are made in plain or pleated styles. In all colors at $10.

An unusual skirt with a continental air is of tan eponge, barred with scarlet or purple in inch squares. Just above the hem, a drawn work design goes around the skirt. Clever pockets. $22.50.

Smart White Skirts

White skirts also exhibit a new range of materials. There are skirts of wool eponge with trimmings of fancy buttons, pockets and a belt. $12. to $19.50. Wash flannel skirts are $12. and $18.50.

Imported Honespun makes skirts in plain models or with a fringe. Unusual buttons trim this skirt—$12. and $18.50.

Beaded Designs are Often Rich and Elaborate

These beaded dresses are often very elaborate, for many are made from imported "robes." One of these imported designs is $80.

For the slender figure is a white crepe dress dotted with single beads of sapphire blue $65. A pale rose gown has beadings of rose crystal and cut steel. $75.

Periwinkle georgette that the more matronly woman can wear is trimmed with lovely beads. $75. A Canton gown of lip-stick red is beaded in crystal—$85.

Beige georgette makes a background for beadings in amber and ruby. Accordion pleated panniers trim the skirt—$80.

Two Gowns of Crepe de Jour

Two gowns that come in the larger sizes are made of crepe de jour in the soft cafe au lait shade. One is trimmed with gold and brick colored beads, the other uses a design of cut steel. The styles are very graceful and the prices $65. and $95.

Other Crepes are Also Beaded

Afternoon dresses of Canton, crepe de chine and georgette use the new Jenny sleeve, the new neck line and uneven hems to declare their fashion. Beads and embroidery are extensively used for trimming. $27., $35., $48. and $58.

Gowns That Depend on Color

Extreme simplicity marks a dinner gown of white Canton. The only trimming consists of vertical rows of black stitching and two jet ornaments at the waist. $65.

Another gown is of sunset georgette, made very simply. The only trimming touch is a large shower spray of forget-me-nots at the side, $95.
